

MERCHANTS SHOULD PROVIDE COMPELLING EVIDENCE

Visa is Making the Dispute-Resolution Process Better for Merchants

In recent years, Visa® has made many significant changes in chargeback rules. We're always looking to better align and simplify the dispute-resolution process while also keeping pace with the needs of the payment industry.

Upcoming Changes to Representation Rights

Visa is continuing to refine its dispute-resolution process for merchants by adding new representation processing requirements for compelling evidence. Compelling evidence will allow merchants to provide additional types of evidence to try and prove the cardholder participated in the transaction, received the goods or services, or benefited from the transaction. This revision will be added to several chargeback reason codes.

Below is a brief overview of what's ahead in April 2013.

Compelling Evidence Reason Codes

Effective for representations processed on or after 20 April 2013, merchants will have a representation right to provide compelling evidence for the following chargeback reason codes:

Reason Code 30	Services Not Provided or Merchandise Not Received
Reason Code 53	Not as Described or Defective Merchandise
Reason Code 81	Fraud - Card-Present Environment
Reason Code 83	Fraud - Card-Absent Environment

For merchants, it's important to remember that this is only a new representation right and not a remedy for the chargeback.

Issuers Must Address Compelling Evidence

With new compelling evidence representation rights for merchants comes the need to ensure issuers provide this information to their cardholders. Effective for representations processed on or after 20 April 2013, if compelling evidence is provided by the acquirer with the representation issuers must attempt to contact their cardholder with this new information. Issuers will be required to provide certification through Visa Resolve Online that an attempt to contact the cardholder with the compelling evidence has been made.

Pre-Arbitration Requirement for Issuers

Prior to filing an arbitration case with Visa, if the issuer refutes the compelling evidence provided with the representation by the acquirer effective on or after 20 April 2013 the issuer must initiate a pre-arbitration case prior to filing arbitration with Visa. If the issuer files an arbitration case with Visa without initiating a pre-arbitration first, the issuer will receive an unfavorable arbitration ruling.

Compelling Evidence is providing proof the cardholder participated in the transaction, received the goods or services, or benefited from the transaction.

The following table outlines the chargeback reason codes and the type of compelling evidence that can be provided:

Applicable Chargeback Reason Codes	Allowable Compelling Evidence
30, 53, 81, 83	Evidence, such as photographs or e-mails, to prove a link between the person receiving the merchandise and the Cardholder, or to prove that the Cardholder disputing the Transaction is in possession of the merchandise
